Nos. 132-135 South Main Street.

PUBLISHED BY
THE AKRON DEMOCRAT COEntered at the postoffice at Akron, O., as second-class matter.The Daily Democrat will be delivered every evening by carrier for

TO TELEPHONE THE DEMOCRAT CALL
No. 180

SATURDAY, JULY 6, 1901.

He is a wise man who shuts off the gas when the family leaves home for a prolonged period.

Elsewhere in this paper appears the call for the primary election to be held from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight for the choice of delegates to the Democratic State convention next week. Show your interest by going to the polls.

With cherries going to waste because pickers cannot be secured—because labor is in greater demand in other avenues of employment—the prospects are bright that Ohio as well as Kansas will need import men to help with the harvest.

Five dollars and costs—$5.30—was a pretty dear price to pay for the fun of placing sulphur and potash on the street car tracks. The lesson may be forgotten by the general public before next year, and anyone who wishes, is at liberty to cut this out for reference 362 days hence.

Hon. W. F. Cody, Buffalo Bill, believes in advertising and he struck the nail pretty squarely the other day when he said:

"One may start in business with plenty of capital, but if he is not known his first act should be to spend some of his money in getting before the people. One manufacturing concern may produce a luxury, and enjoy a large business by advertising. Another may produce a necessity, and be forced to go to the wall simply because the people do not know of their wares. Some may go broke before they are introduced, but the cause is insufficient or unwise advertising, not too much advertising."

Senator Beveridge was right. Every man would be the better for it, if every year he took a two months' vacation. But two weeks—even two days' vacation, is almost out of the question with many men. People cannot all be Senators, and two months' vacation with far too many men—and women—is a luxury beyond their means, though they spent the time quietly and inexpensively at home. And yet it should be possible for everyone to secure some rest and recreation aside from that which Sundays and holidays afford. It should be possible for the poorest man to take a day off now and then. He will be the better for it. Senator Beveridge was right.

WISE and Otherwise.

These are Maud Muller's busy days. Up-to-now is taking the place of up-to-date.

Hay fever's getting into its fighting clothes.

Good many people prone to believe that danger lurks in ice-water.

There would be fewer cherries wasted if the trees were nearer town. Akron boys are not pedestrians.

Horse-back riding is one of the country boy's joys, but "riding horse" is the cause of much of his misery.

The way of the transgressor was especially hard when the Mayor happened to be on the car under which he put explosives.

When those bad men from Cleveland next visit Silver Lake they'll be particular in finding out whether Art Simms is on the grounds.

Col. Hoye will need be mighty careful when he chooses a name for his apartment house, S. A. Lane lives but a stone's throw distant.

A June poem from Mogadore came too late for use last week, and—its July now—Kent Courier.

Can't you use one side for copy paper?

The Cuyahoga Falls Reporter is not mad, simply hurt, over its spring consignment of garden seeds not arriving from the Agricultural Department until this week.

If the question were, "Resolved that a cold night and cheerful grate fire knocks a porch chair and July evening galley west," popular prejudice would undoubtedly carry the day for the affirmative, at this particular period.

"Don't you let any of them nicks on the sideboard get away, while I'm not looking," said the conductor on a crowded Barborton car to a policeman Thursday evening.

Now, how do you like being called a nickel.

"I have been looking at the O'Neil Co.'s new sign every time I have walked down Main st.," said the Observing Citizen. "It's a credit to the town. There's no use talking! Signs make or mar a town about as much as any other one thing I think of just now."

The City Coms. would better look a little out. They have refused Councilman Walker's request for free bath houses and for a city ambulance. If they aren't careful he will call on them to resign and there's little doubt but what the whole Council would be glad to see him force them to it.

The shirt waist man and the net waist girl go hand in hand today, and the people year after year keep on throwing their clothes away. The coat and vest are laid aside and where is the fleecy shawl? And clothes get fewer and fewer—what will be the end of it all? O, what will the shirt waist men take next from the things that he has to wear? And what will the net waist girl throw off from the shoulders now so bare? The shirt waist man and the net waist girl go rollicking down their way. Have we started a trend that is going to end in the old fig leaf some day?

—ANONYMOUS.

Because some one referred to that peaceful municipality as the "Deuber town," the Canton-News Democrat flares up like natural gas at high pressure, and indignantly observes that the council of that town not only is not "playing foot ball with street railway franchise propositions, but that—Akron's rural neighbor 'isn't the 'Deuber' city any more than it is the Diebold city, the Berger city, the Lagenbach city, the Hammond city, the Dick city, the Lynch city, the Bonnot city, the Kurtz city or the Bulley city."

Canton need not be huffy over so trifling a matter. Maybe she will be connected with Akron by street cars some day. While there's life there is hope.

THE DAY AFTER.

The strenuous young American long hoarded up his treasure, And purchased things that crack and fizz, as vehicles of pleasure.

His patriotic youthful breast expanded beyond measure.

Anticipating Independence Day, The festive Fourth arrived at last, and over all the nation

Each youngster straightway started in to have a celebration.

He shot and shouted, singed his hair and showed to all creation,

His high regard for Independence Day.

With bandaged head and blood-shot eyes, burnt fingers and red nose, Today the youngster limps about with thoughtful mien and pose.

And no mere spectator can guess, and none for certain knows

Just what he thinks of Independ. ence Day.

HARRY S. QUINE.

...You Cannot Afford to Have Bad Teeth...

Nowadays, when so much stress is laid on correctness of diction as an indication of social station, no one can afford to have a voice defect. All voice defects not congenital are traceable to neglect of the teeth. The absence of a tooth is soon betrayed in the pronunciation of some shibboleth.
